Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

Marshall J. Gauvin was born near Moncton, New Brunswick in 1881. As a youth, he worked for eleven years for the Canadian National Railways as a carpenter and a cabinet maker. After years of self-education and preparation, he embarked on a career as a freelance public lecturer and educator. He lectured for fourteen years in Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, and Minneapolis. In 1926, he came to Winnipeg at the invitation of the One Big Union. He founded the local branch of the Winnipeg Rationalist Society and lectured weekly for fourteen years on rationalism and humanism in the Metropolitan, Garrick, and Dominion theatres. He became well known for his anti-religious sentiments and his weekly "anti-sermons" during the 1920s and 1930s. On retiring from the lecture platform in 1940, he worked for the duration of the war at MacDonald Aircraft Ltd. building and repairing planes for the Royal Canadian Air Force. Gauvin also wrote monthly articles for the Truth Seeker magazine until his health failed.

Custodial history

The fonds was donated to University of Manitoba Archives & Special Collections by Madelaine S. Gauvin in 1980.

Scope and content

The fonds consists primarily of the free thought lectures of M.J. Gauvin delivered between 1909 and 1940 and his correspondence. There are also personal and biographical memorabilia and correspondence of the Gauvin-Becker families, as well as articles and news clippings relating to religion and free thought. Gauvin's voluminous library on free thought, religion, and anti-religion was donated to the University of Manitoba Libraries and is catalogued and available for use. The fonds also contains 54 pamphlets and individually catalogued ephemera on ethics, Christianity, and parapsychology (MSS 90) and 178 photographs (PC 36).

A2004-030,
Box 0010Lectures, Publications, etc.Date: 1915-1972 (date of creation)Note:

In listing of the lectures, unmarked titles are those appearing in the same format as the text (i.e., typed or manuscript). Titles with quotation marks are those pencilled in (presumably by Gauvin) above a typescript text. Titles within square brackets are derived either from other versions of the text or from the contents.

Many titles are followed by up to three items of information appearing on the original: 1) the date of delivery (within quotation marks when pencilled in later); 2) an indication of publication in The Truth Seeker (given as T.S.-- this information is normally pencilled in and is not always accurate); 3) an 'index' number (given within quotation marks normally pencilled in, referring to a listing of Gauvin's, with a few titles in more than one copy having been listed more than once).
